There is renewed doubt as to what Ministers will retain their posts under Falliers, in the new French Cabinet.

Native Press.

(From the Honolulu Press-Advocate, Jan. 25, 1883.)

The Auditor General.—Since the appointment of Auditor General to the present time, there have come to our knowledge many great evils deserving to be made public.

The nation through its Representatives greatly decried a person of independent, honest and trustworthy character as the one fit to fill the position, and when the law was thought of the man for the place was also thought of. But the man who was occupying the position of Minister of Finance at that time was entirely rejected by the deliberate sentiment of the people, and cast out as one weak when strength was the great requisite. And, in proportion to his weakness was the weakness of his acts and the performance of his duties.

From close observation of his acts since he has been in office, we can not see that he is at all different from what the Ministers wish him to be, and he simply approves of some of the extravagant expenditures, and for this reason the Legislature will repeat of their having passed the appropriation for his ample salary seeing he does not stick to his work. If the law is going to be carried out in this weak manner, and if this man is to retain the office, then it were better that the law should be done away with by the next Legislature.

Amidst, up to the present time he has kept no books appropriate to his important office, he merely signs his name to the bills that are all he does in return for his $5,000 a year. Our money is wasted.

We can see no reason why this man should be thrust into this office (though we have our own opinion of the reason why); possibly he is a friend and business counsellor of the premier, and if not that, perhaps he has some hold on him.

We have no objection to him as a man, we are merely looking to the good of the public service, in the desire to have justice done.
